Master's Thesis Module

(1) ¹The Master's Thesis Module is worth 30 ECTS points and includes the written master's thesis and an oral examination (duration: approx. 30 minutes), as well as additionally assigned courses according to the module handbook. ²The master's thesis serves as proof of the ability to study and research independently. ³It must be written in English and include an abstract also written in English. ⁴The oral examination is the defense of the master's thesis. ⁵It will be held in English, and the earliest it can take place is the time of submission of the master's thesis. ⁶When calculating the module grade, the master's thesis accounts for 85% and the defense for 15% of the final grade.

(2) ¹Authorization to begin the master's thesis is granted based on the requirement that at least 60 ECTS points have been earned in the Master's Degree Program in English and American Studies. ²The topic of the master's thesis is generally arranged at the end of the third semester of study with a supervisor who is authorized to hold examinations. ³The application to begin the master's thesis must be submitted to the Office of Examinations no later than would allow for the completion of the program within the maximum study time.

(3) The period of time allotted for the master's thesis is six months.

(4) ¹Generally, the master's thesis is to be evaluated within three months' time. ²A student has passed the master's thesis if their work has been evaluated as at least "sufficient" (4.0).

(5) ¹Master's theses of the English and American Studies track are reviewed by two readers, one of whom assigned the thesis topic. ²Should the two reviewers award different marks that are both at least "sufficient" (4.0), the final mark shall be determined by calculating the average of the two individual marks. ³In the event of differing evaluations in which one reviewer deems the thesis "insufficient," the responsible examination board decides the final grade.

(6) ¹In the European Joint Master's Programme in English and American Studies track, the second evaluation should be performed by a professor (or a teaching staff member with authorization at the partner university to evaluate master's theses) from a partner university. ²Otherwise, Paragraph 5 applies.

English and American Studies as a Distribution Elective in other Master's Programs

¹Admission to English and American Studies module examinations as part of a distribution elective for other master's programs is based on a review of English proficiency as determined by a compulsory placement test (a score of 60% is required for admission). ²The placement test is held prior to the start of each semester and there is no limit to the number of times it can be retaken.

§ 39

Effective Date, Transitional Provisions

(1) These regulations take effect beginning 1 October 2013.

(2) ¹The admission regulations in Article 32 are first applicable to enrollments in the 2014 summer semester. ²Pursuant to these regulations, commencement of studies in the European Joint Master's Programme in English and American Studies track is possible no earlier than the 2014 summer semester. ³The possibility of transferring credits from the European Joint Master's Degree in English and American Studies previously begun at the University of Bamberg to continuing studies, pursuant to these regulations, in the European Joint Master's Programme in English and American Studies in the 2013/2014 winter semester remains unaffected.

(3) With these regulations taking effect, the study and subject examination regulations of 28 September 2012 for the Anglistik/Amerikanistik Master's Degree Program at the University of Bamberg (German reference: http://www.uni-bamberg.de/fileadmin/uni/amtliche_veroeffentlichungen/2012/2012-67.pdf) no longer apply, except in cases outlined in Paragraph 4.

Appendix: Admission to the Study Track for the European Joint Master's Programme in English and American Studies:

1. ¹Decisions on admission to the European Joint Master's Programme in English and American Studies track are made based on a written application that must be submitted to the University of Bamberg's examination board for English and American studies no later than 15 April for studies beginning in the winter semester or 15 November for studies beginning in the summer semester. ²Final admission decisions are made by the consortium that represents the program's participating partner universities.
2. ¹For reasons of partner universities' existing capacities, there is a limited number of available places for students in the European Joint Master's Programme in English and American Studies. ²A maximum of 10 students can be admitted per semester.
3. ¹Should the number of applicants to the program exceed the number of available spots, a selection process shall take place. ²The selection criterion is the final overall grade of the qualifying degree as per Article 32 Paragraph 1. ³Applicants with the best overall grade will be admitted until the admissions capacity according to Paragraph 2 above has been reached. ⁴In cases of equivalent qualifications, applicants shall be selected by lottery.
4. Rejections must be substantiated and must include instructions on the rights to legal appeal.
